FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CUSTOM TILE AND STONE MURALS TURN ORDINARY SPACES INTO SPECTACULAR WORKS OF ART.

Images In Tile provides an innovative canvas to develop creative client solutions.

(Denver, CO – June 16, 2003). If you are looking for a way to set your commercial space apart from the rest, look no further than Images In Tile. As the leading manufacturer of custom tile and stone murals, Images In Tile products have been used to decorate hotels, restaurants, corporate lobbies, schools, retail stores, and sports facilities. Using a revolutionary process that unites craft and science, Images In Tile can infuse any artwork, logo, graphic design or photograph directly – and permanently – into tile to create a custom, one-of-a-kind mural that your customers will love. Turn interior and exterior walls, entrances, lobbies and even signage into a work of art that can distinguish a business, enhance a theme or simply add character to the ambiance and décor of the building.

Images In Tile works with architects, designers and inspired individuals to create exclusive, personal pieces for select spaces and projects. Richly detailed tile murals can feature a spectacular photo, a favorite painting, company logo or any other digital artwork. You can provide your own image, select one from Images In Tile's vast collection of photography and artwork, or have a custom design created just for you. The image can be reproduced on to a single tile as deco, or made into a mural of any size. And, Images In Tile offers a diverse selection of tile bodies to choose from, including porcelain, ceramic and travertine options.

To create tile murals from replicas of distinctive imagery, Images In Tile utilizes the latest evolution in dye-sublimation inks, coupled with innovative digital technology. In this process, images are printed onto a carrier paper using large format printers and sublimation dyes. Specially coated tiles are then positioned on top of the printouts and placed in a heat press that applies high pressure at 400 degrees. During the heat transfer process, the molecules of the sublimation dyes turn from a solid to a gaseous state, allowing them to penetrate the surface of the tile. When the tile cools, the dyes return to their solid state and are permanently impregnated into the tile. All this is accomplished in unparalleled production times – typically only two weeks! The end result is a lasting, durable and vibrant image within one or several tiles that will bring your commercial space to life.

Images in Tile has one of the most sophisticated manufacturing plants of its kind. They are able to create a custom mural of just about any size and with any image. From a small deco tile to a mural that spans the front of a stadium ... your only limitation is your own imagination. In addition to wall tiles, Images In Tile is also currently testing a commercial floor grade tile that can be used with their imaging process, as well as decorative glass pool tiles, and more.
